Cara Hardin

Marquette University
cara.hardin@marquette.edu

Defining the Role of Advisor

- School may not limit the choice or presence of an advisor for either party. § 106.45(b)(2)(B).

§ 106.45(b)(6)(i).

Supportive Measures and Formal Complaint

Michele Wittler
Ripon College
Associate Dean of Faculty and Registrar
wittlerm@ripon.edu

Supportive Measures – an Element of the Mandatory Response Obligations

- Schools must offer supportive measures to the complainant; supportive measures may be offered to the respondent
- Title IX Coordinator must
 - contact the complainant regarding the availability of supportive measures
 - inform the complainant of the availability of supportive measures with or without the filing of a formal complaint
 - explain to the complainant the process for filing a formal complaint

Supportive Measures

- Defined as individualized services reasonably available that are non-punitive, non-disciplinary, and not unreasonably burdensome to the other party while designed to ensure equal educational access, protect safety, or deter sexual harassment.
- Examples include referral to counseling services, no-contact arrangements, housing adjustment, class adjustments, etc.

Formal Complaint

- A school must investigate sexual harassment allegations in any formal complaint, which can be filed by a complainant, or signed by a Title IX Coordinator.
- A complainant's wishes with respect to whether the school investigates should be respected unless the Title IX Coordinator determines that signing a formal complaint to initiate an investigation over the wishes of the complainant is reasonable given the circumstances.

Formal Complaint

- A “formal complaint” is a document filed by a complainant or signed by the Title IX Coordinator alleging sexual harassment against a respondent and requesting that the school investigate the allegation of sexual harassment.
- At the time of filing a formal complaint, a complainant must be participating in or attempting to participate in the education program or activity of the school with which the formal complaint is filed.

Formal Complaint

- A formal complaint may be filed with the Title IX Coordinator in person, by mail, by electronic mail, or by any additional method designated by the school; it must contain the complainant's physical or digital signature or otherwise indicate the complainant is the person filing the formal complaint.
- Where the Title IX Coordinator signs a formal complaint, the Title IX Coordinator is not a complainant or a party during a grievance process, and must comply with requirements for Title IX personal regarding conflicts of interest.

- Written Request by Complainant to the Title IX Coordinator to withdraw the Formal Complaint or allegations therein

Informal Resolution

Andy Luptak
Title IX Coordinator
Concordia University Wisconsin
andy.luptak@cuw.edu

Who Can Be an Informal Resolution Facilitator

The Facilitators must . . .

- be free from conflicts of interest and bias. (p. 1338)
 - [T]he Department leaves recipients discretion to decide how best to implement the prohibition on conflicts of interest and bias, including whether a recipient wishes to provide a process for parties to assert claims of conflict of interest of bias during the investigation. (p. 820)

Who Can Be an Informal Resolution Facilitator

- must receive the same training as required for coordinators, investigators, and decision-makers and include . . .
 - the definition of sexual harassment
 - the scope of the recipient's education program or activity
 - how to conduct informal resolution processes; and
 - how to serve impartially (including avoiding prejudgment of the facts at issue, conflicts of interest, or bias). (p. 1383)
- conduct the process in reasonably prompt time frame. (p. 1338)

Process Requirements

- The initial written notice of allegations sent to both parties must include information about any informal resolution processes the recipient has chosen to make available. (p. 1368)
- Regs expressly state that a recipient may not offer informal resolution unless a formal complaint is filed. (1370-71)
- Cannot force either party into an informal resolution. (p. 1373)
- The Department notes that nothing in § 106.45(b)(9) requires an informal resolution process to involve the parties confronting each other or even being present in the same room. (p. 1376)

- An informal resolution process, in which the parties voluntarily participate, may end in an agreement under which the respondent agrees to a disciplinary sanction or other adverse consequence, without the recipient completing a grievance process . . . (footnote p. 119)
- Any party may withdraw from informal resolution at any time prior to agreeing to a resolution, and resume the formal grievance process. (p. 1384)
- Recipient must inform both parties in writing of . . .
 - the allegations
 - the requirements of the informal resolution process
 - any consequences resulting from participating in the informal process. (p. 1373-74)

Process Requirements

- Obtain both parties' voluntary and written consent to the informal resolution process. (p. 1373-74)
 - The final regulations do not specify the method of delivery for written notices and disclosures required under the final regulations, including the method by which the recipient must obtain parties' voluntary written consent to informal resolution. (p. 1389)
- An informal resolution may result in disciplinary or punitive measures. (p. 1370-71)
- Sanctions: nothing in the final regulations dictates the form of disciplinary sanction a recipient may or must impose on a respondent. (p. 1388)

- Recipient's No-Nos: A recipient is prohibited from (p. 1368)
 - requiring students or employees to waive their right to a formal grievance process as a condition of enrollment or employment or enjoyment of any other right;
 - requiring the parties to participate in an informal resolution process;
 - offering informal resolution unless a formal complaint is filed (either party has the right to withdraw from informal resolution and resume a grievance process at any time before agreeing a resolution)
 - offering or facilitating an informal resolution process to resolve allegations that an employee sexually harassed a student. (p. 1368)

Process Requirements

- With respect to informal resolution, facilitators potentially serving as witnesses in subsequent formal grievance processes, we leave this possibility open to recipients [DOE expects clear disclosure to the parties]. (p. 1367)

Models of Informal Resolution

- Informal resolution may encompass a broad range of conflict resolution strategies, including, but not limited to, arbitration, mediation, or restorative justice. (1370)
- The Department expects informal resolution agreements to be treated as contracts; the parties remain free to negotiate the terms of the agreement and, once entered into, it may become binding according to its terms. (p. 1384)

- Restorative Justice: Nothing in [the regulations] prohibits recipients from using restorative justice as an informal resolution process to address sexual misconduct incidents. (p. 1387)
 - A recipient could use a restorative justice model after a determination of responsibility finds a respondent responsible; nothing in the final regulations dictates the form of disciplinary sanction a recipient may or must impose on a respondent. (p. 1388)
- Mediation: [W]here a recipient believes that parties may benefit from mediation or other informal resolution process as an alternative to the formal grievance process, the decision to attempt mediation or other form of informal resolution should remain with each party. (p. 273)

- Negotiated Resolution (Luptak's Term): An informal resolution may result in disciplinary or punitive measures. (p. 1370-71) The Department notes that nothing in §106.45(b)(9) requires an informal resolution process to involve the parties confronting each other or even being present in the same room. (p. 1376)

 - Information regarding policy that prohibits knowingly making false statements or false information
- Sufficient time must be given to the Complainant and Respondent to prepare a response before any initial interview.

Process Advisors §106.45(b)(5)(iv)

- It may be helpful to offer a process advisor (or support person) at the start of an investigation. Make sure you offer to both.
 - Students typically feel more supported throughout the process.
 - Advisors may assist student in preparing for their interviews and the hearing/appeal.
 - Advisors supplied by the institution are familiar with campus policies/procedures and resources.
- Support people and advisors can be split roles.

Process Advisors

- The parties have a right to have an advisor present during interviews (who may or may not be an attorney).
§106.45(b)(5)(iv)
- May establish restrictions regarding the extent to which the advisor may participate in the proceeding - Must be equal!

Investigative Interviews

- Must provide written notice of date, time, location, participants, and purpose to an investigative interviews or meetings with sufficient time to prepare. §106.45(b)(5)(v)

Investigative Interviews

- Information protected by legal privilege may not be relied on by the investigator unless a waiver is obtained.

§106.45(b)(x)

- Questions and evidence regarding the Complainant's sexual predisposition or prior sexual behavior are not relevant, unless such questions and evidence offer to prove:
 - That someone other than the respondent committed the alleged conduct, or

Grievance Process for Formal Complaints – the Hearing

Kristen Kreple
Marquette University
Title IX Coordinator
kristen.kreple@marquette.edu

Pre-Hearing Preparation

Title IX Coordinator will:

- Appoint decisionmaker(s) – one hearing officer or a panel
- Provide written notice of hearing to the parties – date, time, location, participants, purpose § 106.45(b)(5)(v)
 - Notice must be provided at least 10 days in advance § 106.45(b)(5)(vi)
 - Allow both parties ~ 24 hours to object in writing regarding decisionmaker(s) on grounds of perceived bias or conflict of interest
 - Decide whether to replace decisionmaker(s) (be sure you have alternates!)

Pre-Hearing Preparation

Hearing Officer or Hearing Panel will:

- Read the Investigative Report and review all evidence
- Determine which witnesses named in the Investigative Report they want to question

Hearing Coordinator will:

- Ask the parties which witnesses named in the Investigative Report they want to be questioned
- Arrange for all named witnesses to be available for the hearing

Basic Hearing Logistics

- Use a quiet conference room with a table at which the decisionmaker(s) can sit across from the party or witness (avoid centrally-located rooms in with windows)
- Have another space prepared for each party to participate virtually.
- I recommend preparing hearing binders for the parties and decisionmaker(s) that include the hearing rules, the Investigative Report, and the evidence.
- If the parties will both participate in person, I recommend that a staff member ensure that they don't cross paths.

Basic Hearing Logistics

- You must provide technology that will allow the parties to see and hear what's happening in the hearing room
§ 106.45(b)(6)(i)
- You must record the hearing and provide the recording or transcript to the parties to review § 106.45(b)(6)(i)
- Train the decisionmakers and hearing coordinators on the technology you use and be sure to test it out before the hearing!

Hearing Process

- Decisionmaker or Hearing Coordinator provides an overview of the process and expectations for participants' conduct.
- Complainant appears first, accompanied by advisor, to answer the decisionmaker(s)' questions. Respondent, accompanied by advisor, observes from another location.
- Respondent's advisor cross-examines Complainant (decisionmaker(s) must first determine whether each question is relevant before the Complainant answers). § 106.45(b)(6)(i)

Hearing Process

- Respondent appears second, accompanied by advisor, to answer the decisionmaker(s)' questions. Complainant, accompanied by advisor, observes from another location.
- Complainant's advisor cross-examines Respondent (decisionmaker(s) must first determine whether each question is relevant before the Complainant answers). § 106.45(b)(6)(i)
- Witnesses appear, one-by-one, to answer questions from the decisionmaker(s), the Complainant's advisor, and the Respondent's advisor.

Hearing Process

- Decisionmaker(s) may recall participants for further questioning.
- You can permit parties to provide closing statements and opt to limit their length.
- Decisionmaker or Hearing Coordinator provides the parties a timeframe for the outcome and adjourns the hearing.

Cross-Examination § 106.45(b)(5)(vi)

You must allow the parties' advisors to ask the other party and all witnesses all relevant questions and follow-up questions.

The advisors must ask these questions directly, orally, and in real time during the hearing.

The parties themselves may never ask the questions.

Cross-Examination

How this works: Advisor asks a party or witness a question, but the party or witness does not answer until the decisionmaker determines that the question is relevant. If it's relevant, decisionmaker allows party or witness to answer. If it's not relevant, decisionmaker denies the questions and explains reasoning (this must happen in real time).

Relevance: basically, related to the matter at hand (regulations don't define relevance)

Cross-Examination

- Advisor acts as party's proxy during hearing (Preamble p.1180); is not representing party (Preamble p.1187)
- “the requirement for a party's advisor to conduct cross-examination need not be more extensive than simply relaying the party's desired questions...” (Preamble p.1028)
- Questions about Complainant's sexual history or behavior are barred, unless asked to prove that someone other than Respondent committed the conduct, or to prove consent
§ 106.45(b)(6)(i)

Cross-Examination

- If an advisor refuses to cross-examine, you must provide another to do so (Preamble p.1186)
- “submit to cross-examination” means to answer all relevant questions; (Preamble p.1213) parties may not “waive” questions (Preamble p.1215)
- Develop rules and practices that apply equally to both parties to ensure cross-examination is relevant, respectful, and non-abusive. (Preamble p.1090)

Cross-Examination

Decisionmaker(s) must not rely on the statement of a party or witness who does not submit to cross-examination.

- “Statement” includes any statement made by a party or witness throughout the investigation. This includes police reports, SANE reports, and medical reports, unless the creator submits to cross-examination. (Preamble p.1213)

Decisionmaker(s) must not draw any inferences based on a party’s failure to appear or submit to cross-examination.

§ 106.45(b)(6)(i)

Examples of the requirement to exclude statements:

- Text conversation evidence can only be relied upon if the individuals participating in it submit to cross-examination. If one party submits while others do not, only the text messages written by that party may be considered by decisionmaker(s).
- If a party makes a statement in video evidence but does not submit to cross examination, that party's statement may not be considered by the decisionmaker(s). (Preamble p.1201)
 - This is true even if the statement is an admission!

Decisionmaker(s) Determination

- Decisionmaker(s) can deliberate right after the hearing, or at another date soon after the hearing.
- Although it's easier to use one hearing officer, I recommend using a panel so they can deliberate together.
- Decisionmaker(s) must provide their determination in writing to the Title IX Coordinator, who will then send it to the parties simultaneously.

Decisionmaker(s) Determination

The written determination must include § 106.45(b)(6)(i):

- The allegations of sexual harassment
- A description of the procedural steps taken from receipt of the formal complaint through determination (notifications to parties, interviews with parties and witnesses, etc.)
 - This procedural information should be in the investigative report

Decisionmaker(s) Determination

The written determination must include § 106.45(b)(6)(i):

- Findings of fact (what happened?)
- Conclusions of law (apply your policy to the facts)
- The result of each allegation, and rationale for it (Respondent's responsibility, the sanction, and remedies for the Complainant)
- Process and grounds for appeal

Appeals

Shaniqua Crawford, J.D.
Title IX Coordinator
Lawrence University
shaniqua.l.crawford@Lawrence.edu

Mandatory Appeals: §106.45(b)(8)

- A recipient must offer both parties an appeal from a determination regarding responsibility, and from a recipient's dismissal of a formal complaint or any allegations therein

Grounds for Appeal

A. PROCEDURAL IRREGULARITY that affected the outcome of the matter

B. NEW EVIDENCE that was not reasonably available at the time that could affect the outcome of the matter AND

C. A CONFLICT OF INTEREST OR BIAS: The Title IX Coordinator, investigators, or decision-maker ...

Requirements for the Appeals Process

Written Notice

Separate person to serve as decision-maker for the appeal

Ensure Appeal Decision-maker complies with standard of (b)(1)(iii)

Allow for Reasonable Opportunity to provide a written statement

Issue Written decision that describes the results of the appeal and rationale

Provide the written decision parties simultaneously

Civil Rights Law Protects Gay and Transgender Workers, Supreme Court Rules

The court said the language of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which prohibits sex discrimination, applies to discrimination based on sexual orientation and gender identity.

- On June 15, 2020, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that Title VII protects gay and transgender workers from workplace discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation and gender identity.
- Likely Title IX implications to this ruling. Title VII often informs the interpretation of Title IX within civil litigation.
